

WOMEN FOR EARTH MANIFESTO

An Alliance for the future

We are in the midst of a great turning point, on the threshold of a new change, and we believe in the possibility of opening up the road to the future through an Alliance of women from all over the world that is a connection of thoughts, of wills, of solutions to the severe problems of today.

We want to take our history with us, to mend the rifts between past and future, daughters of an era of women who made Italian history, but also mothers of a new generation: the ones of the near future who will have to preserve the strength of their values.

The values of love for the land, respect for life, for communities, for beauty, for culture, for protecting the rights of the weakest. An idea of harmony and generosity, the energy of a culture that leads us with the same moral strength with which it has led us to important changes in the past. We want to restore dignity and attention to the 'thought' of women: let us not waste women's energy!

We think, as "Donne in Campo" association, that the agriculture of the future must nourish health and well-being, embroider landscapes, weave communities, produce biomaterials, conserve biodiversity and traditions, preserve seeds, cultivate forests, provide phytotherapies, restore natural balances: the ethics of production is our vision.

Today the challenges are indistinguishable: the battle for competent agriculture, the battle for the survival of humanity, for the rights of the weakest, justice, nutrition, health and education. Women engaged in agriculture must make their voices heard, along with all others!

We call on all women to carry out the huge task of charting the way forward, bringing and using their feminine energy in work, life and political engagement, in the family and among communities.

This is a historic opportunity and a great battle for governance: women must be there where decisions are made and be there at a time and in a manner consistent with their nature.

We want to build an alliance with women all over the world; we must give them the strength to culturally and democratically lead the common perspectives. We need a unified vision among women who are in strategic places on the planet, in the countryside, but also leading States in Africa, Asia, Latin America. A great unity for the change of the world.

A very strong alliance for life, the environment and peace: to build a better world to live in, we need women who think up and pave a new way of being in the world and being human.

From the women of the earth comes this thought that we let fall like a seed so that it may germinate! A message of confidence that will blossom into our collective future.

The "Women for the Earth Manifesto", Donne in Campo's charter of values, is freely inspired by the words of Albertina Soliani, President of the Cervi Institute and special "Godmother" of the Manifesto.
